

Surrey Police fights crime and protects people. We strive to earn the trust and confidence of all our communities. Here for everyone who needs us, we put service before self.

Our Plan – read our vision for the Force:

Employee information

Thanks to your council tax contributions alongside the Government’s national uplift programme – Surrey Police is now the biggest it has ever been. The Force now has a total of approaching 4,200 officers and staff.

	2018/19	2019/20	2020/21	2021/22	2022/23	2023/24	2024/25
Police officers	1,930	1,994	2,114	2,159	2,263	2,299	2,299

Surrey’s volunteering programme includes over 400 individuals volunteering as special constables, police support volunteers or police cadets.

Collectively their dedication provides valuable support across policing teams. To find out more see surrey.police.uk/volunteering

OFFICE OF THE POLICE & CRIME COMMISSIONER FOR SURREY

Your contributions helping to take the fight to criminals in Surrey

Your council tax contributions over the coming year will be more crucial than ever in helping our policing teams fight crime in our communities.

The new Chief Constable Tim De Meyer has set out his renewed plan for Surrey Police in which he pledges to combat pockets of lawlessness, relentlessly pursue prolific offenders and crackdown on anti-social behaviour.

This year's increase of 4.2% in the policing element of your council tax will give him the resources to tackle those issues which I know are important to you where you live.

We have more police officers in Surrey than ever before and the county remains one of the safest in the country. I want to keep it that way but I know asking the public for more money in the current financial climate is incredibly difficult.

Policing is not immune from increased costs though and even with this year's council tax rise, more savings must be made in the years ahead. I am working closely with the Force to ensure we provide the very best value for money we can.

I want to thank residents for their continued support which remains vital to the service Surrey Police delivers and will help to continue to improve the response you receive when you need help.
